The recipient will be recognized at Fall Convocation. Nominations are due by April 4, 2025.

Financial Services: Associate Vice President David Valadez

David Valadez was recently named the new associate vice president for Financial Services, a role that he has been serving in an interim capacity since August. Valadez began the role when Angie Kraetsch started as the acting chief financial officer for Cal Poly Solano Campus. Since 2016 he has led Cal Poly's budget planning and has increased transparency in the process. In his new role Valadez, will lead University Budget and Fiscal Planning, University Accounting and Reporting, Student Financial Services, Accounts Receivable, Trust Accounting, Property, and Financial Reporting in support of the campus's goals and mission.

HSI High-Impact Mini Grant Awardees Announced

The second round of the HSI High-Impact Mini Grant Program saw overwhelming interest, with over 40 applications requesting a total of $92,000. After a competitive selection process, 17 projects were awarded grants, representing a diverse range of initiatives across campus. The HSI Mini Grant Program is designed to support initiatives that advance Cal Poly's goals of "servingness" in our efforts to become a Hispanic-Serving Institution (HSI). The selected projects aim to support student success, enhance inclusivity, and promote high-impact learning experiences that center the needs and experiences of the Latinx/e community.

Volunteers Needed for St. Patrick's Day Weekend

Assist in checking IDs at University Housing check points and monitoring community areas over the St. Patrick's Day weekend. Volunteers can sign up for three-hour shifts between 6 p.m. Thursday, March 13, and noon Saturday, March 15. Shifts are set up by date, resident community, resident building and time. Those who sign up to assist will be paired with another employee for each shift, and training will be provided. Food will be available, and volunteers will receive a $15 meal voucher to on-campus dining venues for each completed shift. Questions? Email eoc@calpoly.edu.

Retirement - Lead Cashier - Merrie Kay Sterkel

Cal Poly Partner's Lead Cashier Merrie Kay Sterkel is retiring after 17 years on campus. A mentor, guide and friend to many, Sterkel started at the Irrigation Training and Research Center in 2008 before taking the lead cashier role in 2011. Since then, she has been the smiling face behind the front desk at the Cal Poly Partners' headquarters offering a kind greeting and a friendly word to anyone coming in to pick up a paycheck or drop off a payment. Merrie Kay's last day is March 14. We wish her a retirement filled with joy, adventure and relaxation.

In Memoriam: Connie Hanretty

Former Cal Poly lecturer Connie Hanretty, 67, died February 8, 2025, in San Luis Obispo, surrounded by her boys, Nathan and Andrew, and husband David Church. She earned her master's degree from Cal Poly in 1984 and taught 2007-23 in the Psychology and Child Development Department. Hanretty's career was diverse and deeply rooted in serving others. As a lecturer, she continued her mission of guiding and uplifting others. She cherished being a professor and working with students. Her work was defined by her kindness and belief in the potential of everyone she encountered. A celebration of life will be held March 30 in Santa Margarita.

Named a Top Producer: Fulbright U.S. Scholars

Cal Poly has been recognized as a Top Producer of Fulbright U.S. Scholars by the U.S. Department of State's Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs. This marks the fifth time in the last decade that Cal Poly has received this distinction. For the 2024-25 academic year, three faculty members were selected: Paul Anderson (computer science) for his research on AI applications for chronic pain in Spain, Jean Davidson (biological sciences) for advancing bioinformatics research in Iceland, and Sara Lopus (social sciences) for her research on how household compositional conditions may impact positive outcomes in children's education in Brazil. Their work supports Cal Poly's Learn by Doing philosophy while fostering global collaboration.

A&F Survey: Win Prizes for Sharing Your Opinion

From Facilities Management and Development and Public Safety to the Performing Arts Center and more, Administration and Finance (A&F) wants to hear how their teams are doing. A&F is continually working to improve, and a major part of this effort is based on feedback. The annual Focus Forward Survey launched today to gain insight into how departments and units are performing. The results will help teams fine-tune services and deliverables and further understand customer needs. For each department survey completed, respondents will be entered into a prize drawing. Respondents are only asked to complete the relevant surveys. Take the Survey: afd.calpoly.edu/survey/

Nominate a Sustainability Champion

The 5th Annual Sustainability Awards celebrate members of the Cal Poly community who have exhibited extraordinary commitments to sustainability initiatives and efforts on campus. The awards recognize faculty, staff, students and contributions from recognized campus organizations. Individual recipients will receive a $500 award, and the recognized group will receive a $1,000 sponsorship. Nominators and candidates will be invited to an awards ceremony over lunch on April 25, 2025. Nominators submitting multiple nominations must complete a new form for each candidate. Please submit all nominations by midnight on Friday, March 21, 2025. Questions? Contact Nereida Herrera nherre08@calpoly.edu. Future Housing Site Work: Preparation for Modulars

The site work for future housing buildings A and B is taking shape. Crews have excavated and graded the land and are building retaining walls. Utility tie-ins are also underway. FullStack Modular mobilized its new Southern California factory for the project and is fabricating modular "suite-style" dorm rooms for a stacked high-rise installation. Building A is anticipated to open in fall 2026 to more than 400 students. The design of subsequent buildings is being improved for additional efficiencies – one of the benefits of utilizing the same contractor for each phase of the project. Nominations Open: Outstanding Faculty Advisor Award 2024-25

Recognize a faculty member who has had a positive impact on students through academic advising! The Outstanding Faculty Advisor Award honors one faculty member annually with a $2,000 stipend and recognition by President Armstrong at Fall Conference. Faculty, staff, and students may nominate, but at least one nomination must come from a current student. Self-nominations are not accepted. Nominations close Friday, Mar. 7, 2025, at 5:00 p.m. For questions, contact Denise Bryden at dlazar@calpoly.edu.

Faculty Excellence in Teaching, Research and Service

Cal Poly announced Phoenix (Dongfeng) Fang, Joni Roberts and Shannon Shoff as the inaugural recipients of the Faculty Excellence Award for their outstanding contributions to their disciplines, dedication to student success, and service to the university community. Nominated by their college deans, each recipient received a monetary award to directly support professional development and academic initiatives. This award, administered by the Office of the Provost, was made possible by a generous donor contribution.

ITS – New Information Security Officer

Kyle Gustafson has been named Cal Poly's new information security officer. In this new role he serves as the primary contact for Cal Poly on CSU systemwide information security matters and oversees the campus' Information Security Program. He also leads the Information Security Office team and advises the campus on secure practices. Gustafson has been with Cal Poly for 13 years; starting as a lead system administrator before serving as senior information security engineer for nearly eight and a half years. He received his master's degree in information technology from CSU Fullerton.

Exposing Hidden Bias Workshop

Employee and Organization Development continues to offer the Exposing Hidden Bias workshop, presented by Lanaya Gaberel, with an upcoming session on Feb. 27 from 1:30 p.m. to 3 p.m. via Zoom. This workshop highlights the unconscious biases we all possess and provides strategies to mitigate their impact in our work and relationships. Join us to learn about diversity and inclusion at Cal Poly, recognize areas where unconscious bias may surface, explore strategies for avoiding bias, and discover resources for continued learning and involvement.

Changes Coming to Cal Poly Partners Cashiering

Effective March 1, for campus community members looking to perform cash services, such as making change and in-person deposit hand off, these services will now be available on Wednesdays from 8:30 a.m. to 4:30 p.m. A drop box is also available, on the wall just right of the Cashier window on the first floor of the Administration Building (No. 1), for anyone looking to make a payment or deposit outside these hours. Payroll and other checks held for pickup will still be available at the Cal Poly Partners cashiering window.

March Fourth Is Returning

On Tuesday, March 4, the campus community is invited to “March Fourth” with Cal Poly Partners and join us to celebrate and learn more about Partners’ faculty and staff housing program, how the team is working to alleviate food insecurity on campus and so much more. The event also includes an open house and tours of Harvest Lofts, the new faculty and staff apartments, from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. Make plans to join the celebration at 1901 Marketplace from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. and March Fourth with Cal Poly Partners.

Remembering Emerita: Architecture Professor Donna P. Duerk

Donna Duerk, a Cal Poly architecture professor for approximately 30 years, passed in January 2025. She loved San Luis Obispo and became entrenched in the community. Her dedication to education, promotion of women in architecture, art in public places and sustainability of our planet is visible through the various scholarships and endowments she created at NC State and Cal Poly, where her continued contributions to organizations that work toward clean energy and sustainability live. Memorial donations can be made to the California Rare Fruit Growers Scholarship fund.

Sustainability - Share the Love this February: Join Cal Poly's Journey to Zero

As an award-winning leader in sustainability, Cal Poly is dedicated to lowering its environmental footprint on its Journey to Zero. Over the past three decades, Cal Poly has implemented several initiatives that have taken the campus closer to its goals of carbon neutrality by 2045, zero waste and water resiliency. This ongoing process will require a commitment from students, faculty and staff. One easy step the campus community can take is to reduce landfill-bound waste by disposing it in the proper bin. Share the love, and make a commitment to join Cal Poly on this Journey to Zero.

Black History Celebration United by Excellence – Feb 14

Strategic Enrollment Management's (SEM) admissions and recruitment team will host over 150 high school scholars from partnering school districts at the Black History Celebration, United by Excellence: Love, Legacy and Culture event Friday, Feb. 14. A strong advocate for experiential learning, he is committed to enhancing Cal Poly’s Learn by Doing philosophy. Join us in welcoming him to Cal Poly this summer!

Biology Student Co-Leads Global Study

Cal Poly biological sciences graduate student Owen Bachhuber is helping to lead a global study of snake perceptions to reduce the number of bites and deaths resulting from encounters with the reptiles. The “Under the Snakefluence” study involves surveying people in more than 20 countries to better understand public perceptions and fears of the creatures and to assess how best to educate people about serpents to promote safe coexistence. Bachhuber, a student researcher in Cal Poly’s Physiological Ecology of Reptiles Laboratory (PERL), is co-managing the project with Australian ecologist Christina Zdenek, Ph.D., who co-operates the Australian Reptile Academy. Perseverance Through Adversity: Grant Recipient

Luke Hansen planned to follow in his mother’s footsteps and become a chiropractor. He watched as his mother, a longtime chiropractor in Arroyo Grande, California, provide lifetime wellness care to patients of all ages. Hansen, who has always been fascinated by anatomy, was accepted in 2021 to Cal Poly’s kinesiology program. Seven days before his graduation from Arroyo Grande High, his mother, Laura Millis-Hansen, lost her battle with leukemia. In the years that followed, Hansen faced various life challenges. But through it all, Hansen has used his passion for his pursuits as a driver toward success. Read More: www.calpoly.edu/news/

Military-Affiliated Faculty and Staff Association (MAFSA)

The newly formed Military-Affiliated Faculty and Staff Association (MAFSA) is seeking members to launch our inaugural meetings this Spring Quarter! MAFSA's mission is to cultivate connections, foster a vibrant sense of community, and celebrate the rich diversity of experiences that military-affiliated members bring to our campus. We welcome all employees, faculty, and staff—regardless of military affiliation—who are committed to supporting and uplifting our military-connected colleagues and students. Whether you're looking to network, share experiences, or champion a more inclusive and supportive campus environment, MAFSA is the perfect place for you. Join us as we build something great together!

Seven-Day Paid Parking Implementation Delayed

The university is delaying the implementation of the seven-day paid parking program. The program was scheduled to go live Feb. 1. However, that implementation is being delayed while the university works to consider and address feedback received in recent weeks. The feedback gathered from the campus community has been extremely valuable, and university leadership thanks everyone for their participation in this process. More information will be shared as the university moves forward in developing future plans for parking.

She holds an accounting degree from SFSU and an MBA from CSU Stanislaus. Working out of Mustang Business Park, Linderman will lead a budget and fiscal planning team in overseeing all aspects of the campus budget planning, development, administration and reporting.

Cal Poly Expands Research on Oil and Gas Well Emissions with Nearly $1M Grant

Cal Poly's environmental engineering team is broadening its groundbreaking research on greenhouse gas emissions from California's idle and abandoned oil and gas wells, thanks to a nearly $1 million grant from the Department of Conservation. The new three-year project, led by assistant professor Derek Manheim alongside professors Nazli Yesiller and Jim Hanson, builds on previous studies to provide a more comprehensive understanding of emissions from idle and abandoned wells across the state. Did your dependent apply to Cal Poly?

If you are a full-time faculty or staff member and your dependent (spouse, child or stepchild) applied to Cal Poly for fall 2025, please complete the Faculty/Staff Dependent Inquiry Form (if you haven't already) by the Jan. 15 deadline. For more information about the application process, please visit calpoly.edu/admissions.

Benefit Deductions - 2025 Benefit Plan Year Begins

Please compare your current pay stub with your benefit elections in the My Cal Poly Portal to ensure your 2025 benefit deductions are correct. Rate information is available on the Benefits website. Modifications may include medical and dental plan changes, adding or removing dependents, flexible spending account elections, and enrolling or terminating voluntary coverages (including VSP Premier and life insurance). Effective Jan. 1, the PPO medical plans are administered by Blue Shield. New cards were issued via mail in December. Questions? Email benefits@calpoly.edu

Seven-Day Paid Parking - Starting in February

On Feb. 1, 2025, Cal Poly will transition to a Seven-Day Paid Parking program that will help ensure safe, well maintained parking facilities throughout campus. Starting that Saturday, campus visitors will need to purchase a parking permit on Saturdays and Sundays in addition to weekdays. Students, faculty and staff who have a valid parking permit will not be affected, nor will visitors for Performing Arts Center events, as their ticket includes parking. CSU policy – directed by the State Legislature – requires each campus to fund the operation and maintenance of their parking structures and lots. Parking permit revenue goes toward this cost.

Winter Parking Permits on Sale

Employee parking permits for winter quarter went on sale Thursday, Jan. 2, just before the fall quarter permits expired on Sunday, Jan. 5. Finding and purchasing a parking permit is easy using your parking account. Daily, weekly, monthly, quarterly and annual parking permits are available online for purchase at the faculty and staff bargained rates. Permits sold at pay stations, parking meters or by mobile app do not offer bargained rates. Winter quarter permits are valid Monday, Jan. 6, through Sunday, March 30. Visit Transportation and Parking Services' Faculty and Staff Parking webpage.

January is Stalking Action Month

Safer will be hosting events all month long. Events include zine making, a trivia night, open-mic night and the Fourth Annual Night Relay. The Staff and Faculty Solidarity event is on Friday, Jan. 23, in the Wellbeing Conference Room from 8:30-10 a.m.

Cal Poly to Lead California's Urban Forestry Strategic Plan

Cal Poly has been awarded the contract to lead creation of California's new strategic plan for urban forestry, a major initiative in partnership with Cal Fire. Driven by Assembly Bill 2251, the project aims to boost canopy cover by 10% by 2035, fostering healthier communities, addressing climate change and enhancing equity in green spaces. "This strategic plan gives Cal Poly students a direct path to using their data to solve real-world problems," said biological sciences Professor Jenn Yost. The effort builds on Cal Poly's Urban Forest Ecosystems Institute, a statewide leader in urban forestry research and tools, such as SelecTree. Read more: calpoly.edu/news

Getting to Apple's Core: Steve Wozniak Shares Perspectives with Cal Poly

In early November, Apple co-founder Steve Wozniak spoke to the Cal Poly community in an event that kicked off the Noyce School of Applied Computing's Distinguished Speaker Series. During the hourlong talk, Wozniak — also known as "The Woz" — spoke on a wide range of topics, from his own childhood and the spark that ignited his fascination with computers, to his at-times tumultuous partnership with Steve Jobs, to his plane crash in the early 1980s, his thoughts on AI — and the unconventional name that made it onto his college degree. Cal Poly Ranked No. 1 in Study Abroad Among Master's-Level Institutions

Cal Poly has again ranked first in the nation among master's-level institutions for sending students abroad, according to the 2024 Open Doors Report by the Institute for International Education. Announced during International Education Week, this is Cal Poly's third time receiving recognition since 2020. In 2022-23, The university sent 1,105 students to 21 countries, excelling in mid-length, long-term, and short-term programs. Roughly 23% of Cal Poly undergraduates study abroad prior to graduation. The International Center is committed to raising this percentage in an ongoing effort to enrich international opportunities for all students and advance Learn by Doing in a global context.

Making Space For Student Success

The university's space optimization initiative continues making progress by consolidating student and employee support functions into two convenient locations. Human Resources, Payroll, Cal Poly Partners Cashiers, Financial Aid and Student Accounts are relocating to these new Shared Service Centers in Building 1 in winter quarter. These moves will increase operational efficiency, promote sustainable growth and ultimately, enhance student success – goals of Cal Poly's accelerated master plan. Earlier this year, 150 Cal Poly staff members made this possible by moving to the Mustang Business Park. These efforts underscore Cal Poly's commitment to maximizing resources and preparing for a successful future.

Seeking Faculty Lead: DEI Competency Assessment

The Office of Academic Programs and Planning (APP) is seeking a faculty lead for the DEI Core Competency Assessment project, with appointment to start winter 2025. The faculty lead will earn four units of assigned time for the 2024-25 academic year. Under the direction of OUDI and APP, the lead will work with the Academic Assessment Council and faculty assessment leaders to facilitate assessment of DEI learning on campus. Anticipated time commitment for this role is ~6 hours/week over winter-spring 2025 (possibility of renewal of assigned time for 2025-26). Interested? Contact Andrew Morris (admorris@calpoly.edu) for application details.

Celebrate Mustang Pride: Poly Vintage Collection now available at the Cal Poly Mustang Shop

With input from students, staff, faculty and alumni, University Communications and Marketing's Trademark Licensing office is excited to introduce a new branded-merchandise line inspired by Cal Poly's archival logos and graphics. CSU Board of Trustees Approves Cal Maritime and Cal Poly Integration

President Jeffrey D. Armstrong addressed students and employees on Nov. 21 regarding the CSU Board of Trustees' approval of the Cal Maritime and Cal Poly Integration. "This is exciting news for both of our campus communities — a change that will provide the necessary financial and administrative support and enrollment and admissions expertise to stabilize and strengthen the critical Cal Maritime resource while augmenting Cal Poly's Learn by Doing education and providing new and expanded opportunities to even more students." For more on the integration, visit www.calpoly.edu/maritime.

Charles and Claire Jacobson Animal Health Center: Groundbreaking Ceremony Commemorates Key Project Donors

The College of Agriculture, Food and Environmental Sciences held a groundbreaking celebration on Nov. 8 to celebrate the construction of the Charles and Claire Jacobson Animal Health Center, which broke ground this fall. Plans for the new center include 15,500 square feet of multi-use space flexible for teaching, research and clinical training — including wet labs, a surgery suite and a necropsy area. The center is set to become an interactive, experiential animal facility that embraces hands-on learning, supporting the next generation of leaders in veterinary medicine, animal healthcare and animal agriculture.

30th Anniversary Tour – Dec 18: Pink Martini featuring China Forbes

Now celebrating their 30th anniversary, Pink Martini is coming to SLO with their festive holiday show featuring the sublime lead singer China Forbes! Pink Martini is renowned for a dozen musicians with songs in 25 languages. Expect a concert flavored by a multilingual repertoire as the much-loved 'little orchestra' performs both holiday songs and other fan favorites from the band's 11 studio albums. In the words of bandleader and pianist Thomas Lauderdale: "Pink Martini is a rollicking around-the-world musical adventure. ... if the United Nations had a house band in 1962, hopefully we'd be that band." Purchase tickets: calpolyarts.org

Mark O'Connor featuring Maggie O'Connor - Dec 5: An Appalachian Christmas

Seven-time Country Music Award-winning composer and fiddler Mark O'Connor brings an elegance and earnestness to down-home bluegrass and folk music. His annual holiday tour draws on his celebrated album "An Appalachian Christmas" and features fresh arrangements of Christmas classics, both vocal and instrumental. The spirited performance captures the varied emotions of the season: playfulness, joy, contemplation, gratitude and features his wife, Grammy Award-winner Maggie O'Connor on fiddle and vocals. This event has a 20% staff and faculty discount available. Purchase tickets: calpolyarts.org

Cal Poly Partners With Cuesta, Hancock Colleges Making It Easier for Local Students to Earn Four-Year Degrees

Cal Poly has announced new 2+2 programs with Cuesta College and Allan Hancock College, designed to expand access for local high school graduates to earn a Cal Poly degree. These partnerships enable qualified students to complete their four-year degrees on the community college campuses while bringing Cal Poly's renowned Learn by Doing education to even more students in the region. A traditional 2+2 program allows a student to earn a bachelor's degree by completing two years of study at a community college campus and then transferring to a four-year university for the final two years.

New Senior Vice President

Allison Baird-James started her tenure as the senior vice president for Administration and Finance on Sept. 3 and immediately dove into her role as chief financial officer for the university. In her first two weeks, Baird-James has immersed herself in everything from the university budget and facilities management to the proposed integration with Cal Maritime. As the financial steward for Cal Poly, Baird-James oversees a broad portfolio that includes budget and fiscal management, facilities management, construction and planning, procurement, risk management, public safety and oversight of auxiliary operations.

SURP+ Research Poster Symposium Oct. 18

The annual SURP+ Research Poster Symposium will showcase over 125 projects completed as part of Cal Poly’s Summer Undergraduate Research Programs (SURPs). Student researchers from five colleges will present their findings from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. on Friday, Oct. 18, at Engineering Plaza, between Engineering IV (No. 192) and Bonderson Engineering Projects Center (No. 197). Student poster presenters worked with faculty members and community partners last summer, resulting in student-faculty co-authored publications and university, industry and community collaborations. In addition, 35 Central Coast Community College students active with the C6 NSF LSAMP Program will share their research. Light refreshments provided by the Office of Student Research.

United by Excellence Latinx/e Heritage Celebración

Strategic Enrollment Management's (SEM) United by Excellence and Admissions teams, with the help of the Office of University Diversity and Inclusion, La CASA Latinx/e Cultural Center, and all six academic colleges hosted 196 high-achieving 12th grade students from Wonderful Education across the Central Valley region, Santa Maria Joint Union High School District, Lompoc Unified School District, Salinas Union High School District and Lucia Mar Unified District in a day-long celebración held Oct. 11. Keynote speaker Matthew J. Melendrez (Mental Health Clinician, Cal Poly Professor and Consultant) welcomed students with a moving speech focusing on Latinx/e identity before they toured campus. Following the tour, students attended a Learn by Doing workshop and a Resource Fair, watched cultural club performances and participated in Latinx/e topic-based lectures. The event was inspired by the university's goal of becoming a Hispanic Serving Institution (HSI) as well as United by Excellence's aim to instill a college-going culture and increase higher education student preparation experiences for historically marginalized, underserved and/or underrepresented student populations.

Kennedy Library on Track to Open Fall 2025

Inaugural San Luis Obispo Prescribed Fire Training: Event Brings Diverse Partners Together to Burn and Learn

An inaugural Prescribed Fire Training Exchange, hosted by Swanton Pacific Ranch's Fuels and Vegetation Education program, kicked off this week in San Luis Obispo County. The program, funded by CALFIRE's Healthy Forest Initiative and the California Climate Initiative, incorporates eight days of training — inside the classroom and at two prescribed burns. The Prescribed Fire Training Exchange (TREX) brings together diverse groups of participants, allowing attendees to gain prescribed fire training and hands-on burning experience. TREX also develops key relationships and networks, with the goal of helping to expand the use of prescribed fire in California's Central Coast region.

Cal Poly Receives $8 Million in Federal Grants

Cal Poly's School of Education has received two highly competitive grants, totaling more than $8 million, from the U.S. Department of Education to help address a variety of critical issues and areas of need in education. With the funding, School of Education faculty and staff will recruit, train and support a diverse pool of more than 1,500 teachers; help address current classroom challenges and teacher shortages; better serve bilingual students and students with disabilities; and continue to encourage long-term career success for program graduates.

Associate Vice President for Public Safety: George Hughes

As part of the university's continued reinvestment in campus safety, George Hughes was recently named the associate vice president for Public Safety. For the past 12 years Hughes has served as chief of the Cal Poly Police Department and the assistant vice president for Public Safety performing an instrumental role in building a complete department that stretches beyond policing. In his new role he will serve as an advocate for further growth, changes and maturation of our Public Safety program. Deputy Chief Bryan Cox will serve as interim chief of police. A national recruitment is underway for a new chief of police.

For the First Time: 25% of Cal Poly Students are Latinx

Cal Poly has reached a significant milestone in its quest for Hispanic Serving Institution designation, as Fall 2024 enrollment numbers show Hispanic/Latino student enrollment at the required 25% for the first time ever. This achievement brings Cal Poly one step closer to official HSI designation, which requires maintaining this 25% threshold for two consecutive years before applying. Achieving HSI status will unlock access to resources and grants that will help deepen support systems for Latinx/e students and further strengthen the university's goal of fostering an inclusive campus culture. Latinx/e students make up approximately 29% of the incoming undergraduate class. Read the full article at calpoly.edu/news.

Student Club Supports Local Children Impacted by Cancer

Every summer, a group of local children head to a lakeside camp in Santa Barbara County for a week of bonding and fun. Unlike most summer camps, this one is run by the Cal Poly chapter of Kesem, a college-based nationwide organization designed to support kids whose parents or guardians have been impacted by cancer. The no-cost summer camp gives these children an opportunity to build a supportive community around a shared experience while also having fun. Read the full article at calpoly.edu/news.

Ask an Expert: How has AI Changed Misinformation

Since 2020, misinformation has become a dominant part of public online discourse: unequivocally false claims about the 2020 election, COVID-19, hurricanes and presidential candidates have swirled, driven further by the rise of AI. Cal Poly News sat down with Kim Bisheff, an assistant professor in Cal Poly's Journalism Department who studies how misinformation spreads online, for a chat about what digital media consumers face, how misinformation has changed — and what we can do about it. Behind the Scenes of Beautification at the Leaning Pine Arboretum

From tending to lush gardens to building accessible seating, students and faculty have been hard at work in Cal Poly's Leaning Pine Arboretum to prepare the five-acre living laboratory for visitors in the new academic year. "It's really a space for everyone," said Tiffany Faulstich, arboretum manager and Plant Sciences Department lecturer. She oversees a team of student employees who help the gardens thrive year round while guiding large-scale improvement projects. Over the last few months, she has worked with students to lay roughly 500 linear feet of accessible pathways throughout the gardens, creating a more accessible walking loop. Please join Administration and Finance leadership in welcoming Meggan to Cal Poly.

Celebrating Native American Heritage Month: Showcasing Cree Language in Library Discovery

This Native American Heritage Month, we are proud to feature our ILS and discovery systems' support for Cree syllabics. Highlighted in the Kennedy Library's collection, "The Memoirs of Miss Chief Eagle Testickle" exemplifies our technological capabilities and dedication to preserving Cree cultural heritage. These hardback volumes, primarily in English with sections in Cree, are available on the New Books shelf in Crandall Gym (Building 60). Created by Cree artist Kent Monkman and collaborator Gisèle Gordon, this work offers a transformative view of Turtle Island's history through the eyes of Monkman's alter ego, Miss Chief Eagle Testickle.

Research Teams Tackle Astronomical Questions

Wrestling with the mysteries of the universe that intrigued Albert Einstein and have perplexed other prominent theoretical physicists for generations is the mission of a student team working with physics professor Ben Shlaer. Shlaer is the recipient of the 2024-25 Astronomy Faculty Research Fellowship, supported by the Marrujo Foundation, established by Cal Poly alumnus Dan Marrujo (Electrical Engineering '08) and his wife, Rosamaria Marrujo. Shlaer is working with multiple teams of students and former students on investigations into the unknowns of space and time — and abstract questions around early universe cosmology relating to the big bang, black holes and universe expansion. Payroll Services Department: Lisa (West) Kasper
Lisa (West) Kasper will retire Friday, Dec. 20, after almost 19 years at Cal Poly. In 2006, Lisa joined the Payroll Services department as a payroll technician, later becoming an analyst and finally the payroll lead. She became the go-to expert for everything payroll-related and an invaluable resource for the team and campus partners. Lisa says, "I will be traveling much of 2025, before putting down roots in a new home. I am looking forward to seeing more of the American West/Southwest and plan to take up painting and photography once we settle on a destination. I will truly miss Cal Poly and the Central Coast but most of all will miss the friends I've made here." Colleagues and friends are invited to join her for light refreshments at a farewell celebration 2-4 p.m. Thursday, Dec. 5, on Vista Grande's third-floor patio.

EPaCE Partners with SHRM

Extended, Professional and Continuing Education is offering a SHRM Certification Exam Preparation Program, designed to help HR professionals prepare for the SHRM-CP and SHRM-SCP exams.
